Will everyone in your household know what to do when an earthquake strikes or a tsunami warning is issued? Do you know how to get in touch with each other afterwards?

YOUR PLAN SHOULD INCLUDE:
- How to be safe during an earthquake
- How to respond after an earthquake or tsunami
- How to communicate and recover

SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS
- Be sure your plan includes what will happen to your children at school, day care or other activities. Talk to your children about the plan and include a copy in their backpack.
- Are fragile, elderly or disabled part of your family? Realistically assess special needs for special equipment and medications.
- Don’t forget your pets or livestock in your earthquake and tsunami plan

PREPARE DISASTER SUPPLY KITS
- Keep one kit in your home, another in your car, and a third at work.
- Use the checklists in Living on Shaky Ground, or from your local American Red Cross office to develop your plan and stock your disaster kits.
